
Original observations exclude generated comparators. Exposures include repeated labels and generated MS comparators.
This is the frozen training design, not predictive performance.